The firm also handles specialized areas such as assisted reproductive technology law, LGBTQ+ family matters, and relative caregiver actions.

Beyond family law, the firm offers criminal law services including defense for domestic violence charges, DUI, drug crimes, and both felony and misdemeanor charges. This dual focus allows the firm to provide comprehensive legal support when family law matters intersect with criminal law issues.

The enhanced profile visibility supports the firm's commitment to serving Nassau County families with accessible, local legal representation. By maintaining accurate information about office location, services offered, and areas of expertise, the firm ensures that individuals searching online for family law assistance can make informed decisions about their legal representation.
